TAP AWARDED $100K FOR MENTORING

Jane Veron

The Acceleration Project (TAP) based in Scarsdale has been awarded $100,000 from JPMorgan Chase to support its programs that provide advice to small businesses, entrepreneurs, municipalities and nonprofits. TAP provides its consulting services at rates within reach of businesses that typically could not afford to hire consultants.

TAP's CEO Jane Veron said, "These funds will enable us to continue to serve small businesses...with the technical assistance they need to take their businesses to the next level."

She said the funding will help TAP invest in its infrastructure, primarily focusing on project management, data management and outcome measurement.

Chase is allocating the funds from its $150 million program called Small Business Forward, which helps women, minority and veteran entrepreneurs.
